INDIVIDUAL PATHWAY PLANNING

Pathway planning enables you to explore, identify and evaluate the learning and work pathways available, to recognise opportunities, make connections and prepare for transitions.

Individual Pathway Planning provides the opportunity for you to discover personal interests, skills, influences and abilities and to make connections between these and your environment.

WORLD OF WORK — PRESENT

Consider work you do now or have done recently - workplace learning, paid casual work, volunteering in the community, responsibilities at home or in a family business and work in school. What are some of your experiences in these areas?

How quickly industry changes

Consider the advances in the communication and the printed word, from illuminated manuscript, to moveable type, to personal typewriters, then desktop publishing platforms, small run digital print technology and the rise of 3D printers...

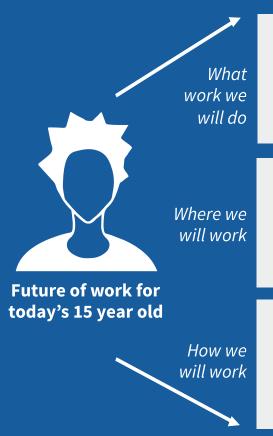

Work context	List some work experiences that you have had. What jobs or tasks were involved?	How do these experiences help you decide about your future planning?

The Foundations for Young Australians (FYA) provides important research about how disruption to the world of work has significant implications for young Australians.

Future opportunities and risk

1.1 Automation:

Ever-smarter machines performing ever-more-human tasks

1.2 Globalisation:

Our workforce goes global and the global workforce comes to us

1.3 Collaboration:

Many jobs, with many employers, often at the same time

2. Opportunities

- > Lower barriers
- > More flexibility
- > Wider markets and more specialisation

3. Risks

- > Unemployment
- > Inequality
- > Insecurity
